Selling Activity Occupies Dealers Coins Moving at Current Levels

Dealers are very busy selling coins this week, as they seek to readjust inventory levels after their buying sprees at the ANA Convention. While there is nothing unusual about such selling after a major show or auction, the turn-about from buying to selling is not usually this dramatic. Simply put, this was a week where the overwhelming majority of activity was devoted to placing coins with clients. The only danger, and at this point must still be considered a very small one, is that if the selling preoccupation continues, it could make the market appear weaker (which will make the market weaker!).

In a recent conversation regarding our CCDn Coin Market Index, a dealer friend was remarking on how stable CMI numbers could mask some incredible gains on individual coins (true enough, as any "average" does so by*definition!*). He noted that the CMI for Silver Commemoratives had only risen from 635.32 (Jan. 1, 1993) to today's 643.68, a mere 8.36 points; observing that one-third of the issues had remained stable, he then asked if we could name the best-performing issue since the beginning of 1993. While there are lots of ways to define "best", we had to admit that the 1947 BTW PDS Set and the Oregon Trail issues might both qualify for the title. The 1947s took top percentage honors in MS64 with a climb from $48 to $86 (a 79% gain over seven months), and also enjoyed a third place showing with the MS63 trio rising from $39 to $60 (a 54% gain). In MS65, the 1947 BTWs rose from $190 to $235 (a 24% gain). Most significantly, this set is available in MS63 and MS64, with a price low enough for anyone to have enjoyed these profits.

The rise in values across the range of Oregon Trail issues is probably tied to all the publicity being generated for the Trail's 150th Anniversary celebration; this is big news in Oregon this year (and is a more fitting anniversary for a new commemorative than some we have seen recently). Between the singles and PDS trios, as listed in the Bluesheet, Oregon issues account for 15 of the top 50 gainers. The better performers follow:

Active Market Sees Limited Bidding
Dealers Putting Pressure on the Sells

Dealer preoccupation with selling continued this week, as they persevere in their attempts to reduce inventories swollen by ANA buying. We are hearing the same message from many dealers: 'There were so many neat coins available in Baltimore, I couldn't resist buying too much; now I have to sell and sell.' We mentioned last week that a selling push was typical after a major convention (especially one 'surrounded' by large auctions), and cautioned that Bidding might be weak on a short-term basis; true enough, but some dealers are starting to express concern that we should have already seen a return shift towards Bidding. Lending some validity to that apprehension, we are starting to see more discounted sells at just below current Bid levels; dealers are sufficiently anxious to move their merchandise that they are willing to 'knock off' a few bucks to make the sale extra-attractive. That works fine as a short-term selling strategy, but, unfortunately, it works against a steadily-growing market in the long-term.

So, it remains an "in-between" kind of a market, with dealers trying mostly to sell, buying selectively for Want Lists, and waiting for the next big show. Speaking of which, the 1st Annual East Coast Expo, sponsored by the Numismatic Guaranty Corporation, is starting to look like an 'instant' success. The goal of becoming the East Coast's "Long Beach" might seem a little lofty, but they have already sold more than 230 bourse tables! - so it is already one big coinvention. At this rate, it looks like a sellout of their 300 tables is a distinct possibility, not a bad showing at all for their first effort. Being held September 10-12 in Parsippany, N.J., the show is close enough to the Metropolitan N.Y. area to make it attractive, and far enough away to make it attractive! Heritage has also scheduled a Bullet Sale, so everything is in order except for a catchy nickname.

This week's chart activity reflects the slow and steady nature of the market. Overall, plus signs outnumber declines, with some 93% of the 9,900+ weekly Bluesheet Bids remaining unchanged. The Silver Commemoratives showed some advances in the MS64 through MS66 columns, with only a sprinkling of discounted sells. The Gold Commems were typically mixed and mainly steady. Morgan Dollars showed more declines than advances, with most of the changes being minor adjustments in generic levels; among the better dates, selective Bidding couldn't quite offset the discounted sells. Peace Dollars likewise ended up with a negative showing, although trading activity continues steady. Mint State Type turned in a light, mixed performance, with very few changes. Mint State Gold Type ended up heavily in the negative column, with minus signs peppering the chart below MS65.

Proof Type was steady, with the few changes of mixed direction most of the plus signs seemed to be in the lower grades. Proof Gold Type remained typically steady, with a few slight declines. Among the specialty series, Buffalo Nickels continued their show of strength with plus signs in the MS63 through MS66 columns. Mercury Dimes also turned in a strong showing, with advances in the late-date generic issues below MS66. Walking Liberty Halves also ended up on the plus side, with most of the advances in the later dates and middle grades. Proof Singles were slightly on the down side in mixed trading.

YOU CAN TELL A LOT ABOUT A GRADING SERVICE BY THE COMPANY IT KEEPS.

Since our inception, the Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America has kept company with some of the world's greatest collectors: Lovejoy, Pogue, Milas, and most recently, Ed Trompeter. Why do these distinguished collectors choose NGC to grade and encapsulate their priceless treasures? Because of our honesty, integrity and consistency in grading.

The Trompeter Collection

1907 High Relief $20 Gold Piece, Graded MS-69, is virtually perfect.

Ed Trompeter spent years compiling the finest and most complete U.S. Proof Gold Coin Collection. To preserve it for future generations, Mr. Trompeter insisted on NGC to grade and encapsulate the famous collection. He chose NGC not only for our consistent grading, but also our quality holder to best display the proof gold coins. Mr. Trompeter strongly believed that the Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America was the one and only grading service to which he could safely entrust this unique collection.

NGC takes great pride in the reputation that we have built throughout the years. We are honored to be in the company of such great collectors and to be their choice to grade such superlative collections. NGC pledges to continue this long standing tradition of excellence and grading integrity. We will always provide precise, independent grading for all numismatists worldwide.

Steady Market Remains on "Iffy" Side of Strong

Dealers Finding Neither Leadership nor Direction

Nearly everyone agrees — the current coin market is a trifle 'strange'. There are definite pockets of strength, but it cannot be described as a "strong" market. There are some areas of weakness, but it definitely cannot be labeled as a "weak" market. Activity, especially on the selling side, remains high, but it can be characterized as neither an "active" market nor a "buyer's" market. Despite the disadvantage of it not being a 'proper' word, the best description we have heard is that the market is "iffy". By that, we mean that the market is 'pretty' steady, with 'decent' levels of activity, with 'most' trades occurring 'more or less' at current levels. All qualified statements, true, but it is that kind of market.

The good news from the marketplace is good, indeed, and if there was more of it, perhaps dealers could feel a little more confident about market direction. As long as dealers are cumulatively uncertain about direction, the market will continue to waiver; when dealers become convinced that a rally is in the offing, their actions and activities will make prices rise. Despite a general lack of Bidding activity (as dealers continue to concentrate on selling), there are relatively few discounted sells driving the market lower (this week minus signs slightly outnumbered advances, but many of them reflect small changes in generic levels). Dealers are 'moving the merchandise', and selective Bidding shows that inventories are being massaged into shape for the next round of shows. Anyway you look at it, coins trading at current levels defines a healthy market.

The upcoming auctions by Stack's and by Bowers & Merena will give dealers much fresh material, and following recent trends, Bidding is expected to be serious. A major push by just a few Bidders would probably be enough to get the market "back in gear" again. Maybe the upcoming Greater New York Numismatic Convention and the 1st Annual East Coast Expo in N.J. will provide the needed spark. Without some leadership, most dealers seem content to sit back and wait for the 'ifs' to resolve themselves.

Silver Commemoratives are mixed this week, with adjustments both up and down, and following no discernible pattern. Gold Commems turned in a performance modestly on the down side. Morgan Dollars were mixed, with selective Bid increases offsetting a sprinkling of discounted sells and generic changes. Peace Dollars were slightly on the down side, but continue to trade actively. Mint State Type was mostly steady, with only a smattering of changes across the chart. Mint State Gold took another dive, with minus signs in the left-most columns; Bid levels on the Gem coins seem to be holding.

Proof Type, which dealers had been watching closely, had discounted sells outnumber advances two-to-one; scattered changes (as opposed to weakness across a Type) usually result from occasional discounted sells. Proof Gold Type was its usual steady self. Buffalo Nickels, the source of innumerable plus signs over recent months, was on vacation this week. Mercury Dimes were on the plus side of steady, thanks to some slight changes. Walking Liberty Halves were the big winners this week (ignoring offsetting movements in MS65 generics), with advances again in the later dates. Proof Singles advanced on selected issues.

Market Momentum Muddled
Dealers Expect "Jump Start" Presently

The market continues to "drift", as it has since the Baltimore ANA. Last week one dealer described the market as "iffy"; that continues although this week may have slipped just a little toward the 'down' side. As another dealer put it, "It's not that the market is weak, really, it's just that right now it isn't at all strong." A tough, unglamorous market to describe, isn't it? Mostly, the market continues steady; a few selected Bids create plus signs, and a few discounted sells create minus signs. The greatest activity was shown by the Buffalo Nickels and Mercury Dimes, accounting for half of the plus signs in the issue!

Dealers continue their active selling, with reduced buying associated with two considerations. Dealer activity is always influenced by the bullion markets, and spot's declines in early August persuaded some dealers to maintain their cash position. Secondly, many are accumulating capital for some major upcoming events: Stack's auction, Sept. 8-9; the Greater New York Numismatic Convention, Sept. 8-10; the 1st Annual East Coast Expo, Sept. 10-12, with a Heritage Bullet Sale; and Bowers and Merena's Auction, Sept. 13-15. That, by any definition, is a lot of action in just eight days.

Collectors of certified coins will find much of interest in The Tower Hill Collection, being auctioned by Bowers and Merena Sept. 13-15 in New York. Delightful coins of both rarity and quality will provide still another test of this market's ability to absorb the finest (see shaded box for highlights).

Silver Commemoratives continue to face uncertain demand; trading at current levels is steady, but there are enough discounted sells to pepper the chart with minus signs. Gold Commems are also a little weak. Morgan Dollars are steady, with some weakness due to strong selling. The Peace Dollar market continues to move 'sideways' with little adjustments on the 'middle ranks', and a few major declines following recent sales. Mint State Type is showing some scattered weakness, as is Mint State Gold Type. Proof Type was mildly weak again this week, with discounted sells concentrated in the Pr64 & Pr65 columns. Proof Gold Type was steady.

Among the specialty series, both Mercs and Buffs provided this lackadaisical market with a little good news. The Buffalo nickels are back to advancing in MS65 and MS66, with prices rising under continued demand. Mercury Dimes inched upwards with increases in several of the generic issues; more than 100 plus signs were produced, with the bulk of the Mercs holding steady. Walking Liberty Halves showed many changes in the later dates with the plus signs slightly outnumbered by the minuses. Proof Singles showed pockets of strength, especially in the Half Dollars.

Vol. VIII No. 37 September 10, 1993 Single copy price $3.50

Demand Continues Weak Discounted Selling Moving Merchandise

The coin market seems to be holding an extended Labor Day 'sale', with Asking prices continuing to slide on many items. The weakness in demand that has characterized the market since ANA shows no immediate signs of reversing, and while dealers are not overly pessimistic, they continue to wait for 'someone else' to pump some demand into the marketplace. To add to the late summer woes, gold spot continues to be volatile — and much of that on the downside!

The lower levels of demand are more noticeable on the sight-unseen side of the certified market; dealers who are being careful about their spending levels naturally prefer to carefully examine coins before committing to their purchase. While sight-seen levels remain high (perhaps too high, according to some dealers), sight-unseen demand continues to be thin and at lower levels. As a corollary to inspecting the merchandise, dealers are also keeping quiet about their Want Lists; current wisdom is that some of the bargains 'spotted' may disappear if the demand is 'broadcast'.

With the large number of quality coins that will be coming on the market during the remainder of 1993, there are sure to be some incredible buying opportunities. Both dealers and investors will be carefully targeting their spending. The contrarians, by definition, will tend to be most interested in those coins that have performed the poorest during the recent past. With a cyclical market, the biggest profits are made by buying at the bottom, and not the top. Just to show that anything is possible we list herewith some of the Leaders and Laggards since the first issue of 1993.

PROOFLIKE MORGAN DOLLARS

P/L Dollars may be semi-reflective (on one or both sides) with less reflectivity than the deep-mirror Prooflikes. Bids for P/L's are usually much lower than for DMPL's but command some premium over non-P/L strikes.

Dear CCDn Subscriber,

We at Spectrum have just uncovered an incredible hoard of Panama Pacific coins, medals and curiosities. Put away, long, long ago. These items are all fabulous relics from the Exposition. Remember, Spectrum regularly carries a large inventory of rare and unusual items that are sure to excite. Enjoy!

Pan Pac $1 NGC 65
Pan Pac $2½ NGC 65
Pan Pac 50¢ NGC 66

3-piece, black leather/purple velvet box. Superbly matched with vibrant shiny luster. Half is toned an array of colors-blue, red, green & aqua.

$12,500

P.S. This sold in 1915 for $7.50; nice return on this investment!

Pan Pac $50 Round NGC 64

In original single box. Both box and coin are gorgeous. The $50 has a radiant gold glow on the obverse, while the reverse shows a golden halo around the wise old owl. Rarely can we offer such a beautiful item.

$45,000

Originally sold for $100 in 1915!

Pan Pac $50 Octagonal NGC 63

Also comes in its original custom box. Why this is not a 64, I'll never know. A great bargain; only $8,000 more than an MS-60!

$28,000

Completely Original Double Copper Frame Obverse & Reverse Gem MINT!

This is the creme-de-la-creme with absolute original glass. Also, shipping box (with gold embossing) is included. This is the RAREST item produced, with fewer than 20 known. Remember, this could be obtained only by spending $400 on a complete set in 1915. Considering a car was $300, you can see why very few were bought. For the ultimate Panama Pacific aficionado.

$20,000

Pan Pac Gold $1 PCGS 65

Bright yellow luster on a spot-free planchet highlights this gem. Includes original paper envelope that describes this specimen.

$2,450

Sold for $2.25 in 1915!

Discounted Sells Dominating
Coins Moving At Lower Levels

The coin market never stops being full of surprises. After ANA, Bidding was light as dealers concentrated on the selling of their newly-expanded inventory, but everyone agreed that this was just a temporary situation. As weeks passed and selling continued to be the focus of the market, some dealers began to express their uneasiness; still, sales were mainly occurring at- or above-market, so there seemed little reason for alarm. Then, as August rolled into September and Bidding remained dormant, some discounted selling began to drive prices lower; dealers were paying close attention, to be sure, but most continued to hope that the recent 'Mid Atlantic Coin Fest' (two conventions and three auctions over eight days) would put the market back into a buying mood. Instead, deep discounting is providing serious buying opportunities.

So, what happened? At the risk of oversimplifying, this is a case of too many coins and too few customers. In a supply/demand marketplace, that can be a deadly combination for the seller, and a tremendous opportunity for the cash buyer. Having learned from their own losses in the past, dealers are no longer quite as anxious to stockpile inventory to help smooth out the bumps in the market; many are choosing to remain fairly liquid and buying only selectively when they have a Want List to fill or the bargain is simply too good to pass up. With marketplace demand from other dealers remaining low, market stability is depending more on steady purchasing by customers. And that, unfortunately, just hasn't occurred. Between natural disasters, political disasters, higher taxes, and a host of other forces, demand has been reduced across the board. In time, lower prices should help create a new wave of demand.

This could be a market holding at "status quo" except for the actions of the most anxious sellers. One of the less pleasant characteristics of the coin market, especially a tentative market, is that dealers are seeking direction. A few major players, through their buying pressure, can send out the message that the market is rising, and it will! On the other side of that coin, when demand sits on the sidelines, 'leadership' is exerted by the eager sellers. What we have seen in the electronic marketplace is that many "throw away" Bids (that stood at 60%-70% of market just a few weeks ago) now stand an excellent chance of buying a coin at their price, as sellers seem more willing to make the sale. Someone whose cash flow requirements make sales imperative, may have to accept that low but active Bid. Such discounted trades send the message that the market is heading lower, and that will be another self fulfilling prophecy unless other buyers make their presence felt. The good news, of course, is that there are still many buyers out there (even if at lower levels), who have good reason to be happy with their new purchases.

There were plenty of certified coins in last week's auction action: Stack's sale realized $1.2 million, the Heritage Bullet sale hammered down more than a half-million in certified coins, and Bowers & Merena's Tower Hill Collection sold another $3.9 million. Coins are still changing hands and finding happy owners, and transactions remain the foundation of every market recovery.

Market Slide Continues As Bids Falter
Buffaloes Remain Bright Spot

Uncertainty continues to plague the marketplace, with discounted selling driving down many Bid levels. While we don't wish to minimize dealer concern over slipping Bid levels, we would be remiss in not reminding readers that more than 90% of all Bids in this week's Bluesheet remained level. Naturally, it troubles us that minus signs are outnumbering advances nearly three-to-one, but in perspective, only 6% of the Bid levels declined — and many were quite modest slips. Overall, Bidding support appears strongest in the MS61 and MS62 columns, with continued demand at current levels. While no numismatist would ever confuse MS61 quality with an MS65, there are many decent looking MS61 & 62 coins in the market. When a buyer of limited means considers the premium for a Gem, that MS62 can look even better. A nice 62, at a fraction of the 65 cost, is a viable choice for many buyers, a fact that helps explain the steady price levels among the 'lesser' uncs. At the opposite end, the high levels of MS65 and better coins helps explain why these issues are drifting lower.

Silver Commemoratives ended the week on the down side, with most of the changes in the MS64-MS66 columns. While declines outnumbered advances two-to-one, it is significant that nearly all of the plus signs were also found in the MS64-66 columns. These grades remain the core of investor/dealer interest, and this is where the greatest trading activity can be found. As long as coins are changing hands, the market will survive some over-eager sellers. While it never hurts buyers to look for "bargains", it's never worth losing the 'right' coin for a few bucks either. Gold Commems continue on their dismal way; dealers keep asking us how prices can keep slipping on rare coins with such neat stories to tell. Indeed.

Morgan Dollars, at the heart of the coin market, are feeling the effects of this slump. Bid levels for generics seem a little more volatile than has been the recent case, although the drops have not been precipitous. Minus signs are being produced by generic drops and discounted sells, to be sure, but of greater concern to specializing dealers is that demand seems to have "notched down a level". By this, they mean that Morgans (and Peace, to a large degree) below MS65 are fairly stable, but there just doesn't seem to be as many interested buyers for the premium specimens. Fewer active buyers is judged a reflection of overall reduced demand, and that means dealers will only chase coins with a 'guaranteed' sale attached.

Mint State Type coins are showing precious few advances, but the number of declines aren't overwhelming (although some were serious). The MS64 and MS65 columns suffered the brunt of the discounted sells. Mint State Gold Type, on the other hand, showed declines across the chart below MS66; declining gold prices usually cast a pall across the rest of the market. Proof Type was less volatile than its Mint State counterpart, with the declines pretty well scattered across the chart. Proof Gold Type was steady, with few specimens changing hands in such a market.

Among the specialty series, Buffalo Nickels continue to show that there is "life after ANA". In fact, Buffaloes actually enjoyed more advances than declines, with many of the increases in the 'ever popular' MS65 column. The Buffalo CMI stood at 721.93 at the beginning of 1993, a 27.16 increase to this week's 749.09. Mercury Dimes were also steady, with only a handful of changes. Walking Liberty Halves were a little weak in the later-date MS64s and 65s.

Dear CCDn Subscriber,

We at Spectrum have just uncovered an incredible hoard of Panama Pacific coins, medals and curiosities. Put away, long, long ago. These items are all fabulous relics from the Exposition. Remember, Spectrum regularly carries a large inventory of rare and unusual items that are sure to excite. Enjoy!

#1 Pan Pac $1 NGC 65
Pan Pac $2½ NGC 65
Pan Pac 50¢ NGC 66

3-piece, black leather/purple velvet box. Superbly matched with vibrant shiny luster. Half is toned an array of colors-blue, red, green & aqua.

$12,500

P.S. This sold in 1915 for $7.50; nice return on this investment!

#2 Pan Pac $50 Round NGC 64

In original single box. Both box and coin are gorgeous. The $50 has a radiant gold glow on the obverse, while the reverse shows a golden halo around the wise old owl. Rarely can we offer such a beautiful item.

$45,000

Originally sold for $100 in 1915!

#3 Pan Pac $50 Octagonal NGC 63

Also comes in its original custom box. Why this is not a 64, I'll never know. A great bargain; only $8,000 more than an MS-60!

#4 Completely Original Double Copper Frame Obverse & Reverse Gem MINT!

This is the creme-de-la-creme with absolute original glass. Also, shipping box (with gold embossing) is included. This is the RAREST item produced, with fewer than 20 known. Remember, this could be obtained only by spending $400 on a complete set in 1915. Considering a car was $300, you can see why very few were bought. For the ultimate Panama Pacific aficionado.

$20,000

#5 Pan Pac Gold $1 PCGS 65

Bright yellow luster on a spot-free planchet highlights this gem. Includes original paper envelope that describes this specimen.

$2,450

Sold for $2.25 in 1915!

Market Values Holding Better Than Bid Levels
Services Show Differing Levels and Depth

Every so often we like to remind our readers not to confuse the concepts of Bid level and market value. Bluesheet Bid levels for generics are usually the same as market value, because that information is based on multiple trades occurring on a regular basis in the marketplace. On rarer coins, it's entirely possible (and I dare say likely) that the current highest Bid seen in the marketplace is still going to be considerably below the marketplace value of the coin. With the generally lowered levels of demand in the current marketplace, many Bidders have reduced their Bid levels to avoid over-exposure. As has also been happening lately, there may be an eager seller who ignores current market value and sells his rare coin to the higher Bidder regardless of level; by definition, this act establishes a new marketplace value for that coin. This becomes a problem only on rarer issues that might not trade wholesale regularly; a 'cheap' sell on a generic can be safely ignored through the strength of 20 more reasonable transactions, but the value of the coin that sells only once every six months is dramatically affected by the last trade until the next one!

The difference between Bid level and market value is especially pronounced on the coins certified by services other than PCGS and NGC. There have been many cases where ANACS coins have traded in the marketplace at levels comparable to PCGS and NGC; that's the 'good news'. Unfortunately, these other services have not been able to build a consistent sight-unseen Bidding network for their products. In fact, in this time of reduced Bidding activity, the number of Bids seen for the certified leaders has been greatly reduced; for the other services, it has all but disappeared.

There are about two dozen active Bidders for ANACS coins on all of the electronic trading networks, although the majority of these have posted less than a dozen Bids; subtract from that the low-level 'bargain hunting' Bids and the large percentage of sight seen Bids and it is no wonder that the coins trade for higher levels in the sight-seen marketplace (as they should). That necessarily means that many of the Bid levels posted in the Bluesheet must be based on last recorded information evaluated against current market activity; however, these prices are for sight-unseen Bids and should not be confused with the much higher price that a specimen might bring in a sight-seen marketplace. There are fewer active sight-unseen Bidders for PCI certified coins and Bid levels in that segment are heavily dependent on the market-making activity of one Bidder. This kind of Bid leadership is lacking for the other services, and one of the results is seen in their declining active Bid levels. In passing, we should mention that there are currently no active sight-unseen Bidders for NCI coins in the market, but we continue to list them because of the number of NCI holders still found on the bourse.

Superior Galleries just concluded their auction of The Worrell Collection of United States Coinage. Included among the certified highlights:

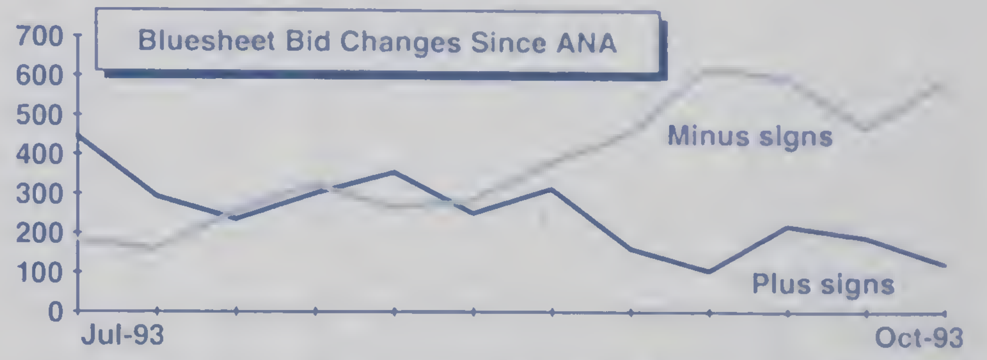
Soft Market Shows Little Progress Buyers Careful With Demand

Coin dealers, as a group, are an opinionated lot (a trait shared with other purveyors of collectibles). And there is no subject dearer than the market, on which to discuss the key questions. What's hot? What's not? Has the market bottomed? Has the market peaked? How can I get my customers to buy more coins? How can I get more customers? How are the wife and kids doing? Can Long Beach get any larger? You know, the essentials.

Well, the dealers at Long Beach had plenty to talk about. Despite an active bourse, the consensus is that the market continues to look weak, and dealers are continuing to scale back on their bidding activities. Nobody wants to be too exposed in a declining market, even knowing that every withdrawn Bid makes the market a little weaker. There are only a few Bidders demonstrating leadership of any kind, and until more are willing, the market will continue to slide. Of course, as we all know from past experience, the market can turn around almost immediately with a large infusion of cash, or with the determined buying of the larger firms. In the meantime, buyers in this market are having a grand time (while being very careful about their Wants and their cash).

Many generics are lower on multiple trades, and discounted sells (and offers to sell) are slowly nibbling away at the Bid levels on the rarer items. Overall, declines are outgunning increases five-to-one this week. While the raw counts on changes can be misleading, they provide general hints; an up market will produce lots of plus signs! The graph shows the relative number of plus and minus signs in the Bluesheet's weekly files since the week before the ANA Convention. The CMI, a much more accurate indicator of total market position, shows a decline from the July 23 level of 729.84 to this week's 717.07.



This week's Silver Commemorative chart is showing the effects of a weakening market; a few scattered advances cannot hold off the discounted sells and lowered Bids. Surprisingly, the Gold Commems look pretty healthy (compared to the Silvers). Morgan Dollars are weaker across the board, and generally lower levels are causing the market to make broad adjustments in Bidding. Peace Dollars remain weak as well. Mint State Type continues to seek support, but Proof Type showed a lot more declines. Mint State Gold Type has not been of any use in fueling a rally. Don't the gold bugs watch CNN? Don't they know that a major nuclear-armed power had a Revolution? And spot gold declined on that news! What is it going to take to turn gold around, the announcement of a Bid for 'four more years'? Sorry, I digress. Among the specialty series, Buffalo Nickels continue to hold their own. Mercury Dimes are also looking decent. Walking Liberty Halves, unfortunately, didn't join the party. I know we keep asking how such neat coins can keep getting cheaper; the question, however, is rhetorical, and we really don't need the market to answer.

PROOFLIKE MORGAN DOLLARS

P/L Dollars may be semi-reflective (on one or both sides) with less reflectivity than the deep mirror Prooflikes. Bids for P/L's are usually much lower than for DMPL's but command some premium over non-P/L strikes.

Want Lists Supporting Dealer Activity
1913 Hawn Nickel Brings $962,500

Bidding weakness continues to dominate market psychology, as dealers work to fill as many Want Lists as possible. Naturally, dealers are thankful for the business generated by Want Lists, and the lower prices on many issues mean that they are able to fill many lists that were previously 'underbid'. One of the curiosities about the Want List business is that there are many customers who simply know their price — that is, they know the maximum that they will pay for an item (even if it is below current market), and they are willing to wait for it if necessary. In a cyclical market such as rare coins, their wait is sometimes justified. I was reminded of this in a conversation with one of America's leading collectors, and a man with the financial resources to buy what he wants; he dropped out of the Bidding on many Garrett coins when his price was exceeded, secure in the knowledge that he would have another opportunity to purchase them some day, and probably at a lower level (which he did!). This attitude contrasts nicely with the more aggressive stand that he takes (along with many Want List collectors) when chasing a coin that is exceptionally rare: when a coin comes on the market only once every twenty years, the three most important rules are buy it, buy it, and buy it.

General lethargy in the bullion markets hasn't been helping the coin market any. Gold goes up a few bucks, and down a few bucks, despite the headlines around the world or on Wall Street. Silver bounces around, despite the headlines or Gold. A revolution here, an uprising there, and none of it seems to matter much. Except to dealers, of course, who, despite trimming their inventories, still have such a large exposure through their gold coins. We took a look at some of the leaders and laggards in Mint State Gold Type since the first Bluesheet of January. Remembering how important gold coins are to the numismatic trade, they provide a pretty good indicator of just what kind of a year it has been.

Across the charts, Mint State Gold Type Bids are down 6%, and the Mint State Gold CMI is down about forty points, which means that you might have made a few bucks during 1993 by holding just the right coins, but on average, holding was a losing game. As every dealer knows, this is the kind of market where it pays to get coins into the hands of willing collectors, and depend upon inventory turns to generate profits.

Market Signals Moving Towards Mixed
Hawn Sale Brings "Good News"

While it may still be too early to give credence to the optimist's assertions that the market bottom has been reached, it is true that we are seeing some very encouraging signs that market strength is growing. There are a growing number of bidders, and their Bids are more supportive of current Bid levels; this is the best news we have had to report in some time. We would like to see even more support at current levels before the next wave of plus signs (signaling that the next rally has begun); what we will probably see will be a purchasing rush, a numismatic 'feeding frenzy', where everyone tries to buy the coins needed before prices begin to seriously rise. That in itself will generate lots of plus signs, which will encourage even more activity. Can't wait, you say?

So, what other "good news" is there to report? Mint State Gold Type is seriously climbing (in reaction to increases in spot); Gold Commemoratives and Mercury Dimes are both enjoying renewed demand. We would feel more confident about 'bottom' talk if we saw a little more positive activity in Silver Commemoratives, and Morgan & Peace Dollars. We agree with those dealers who insist that you cannot have a sustained market-wide rally without substantial support and Bid growth in these four areas (the fourth, of course, being Mint State Gold Type).

Another piece of "good news" came from Stack's auctioning of the Reed Hawn Collection. Results from the 1913 Liberty Nickel were received just in time to make last week's Bluesheet headline at $962,500, followed by Hawn's 1804 Dollar at $522,500. While record-setting auctions are always of interest to the numismatic community, the sale of these coins (at such strong prices) is equally important because it gives a firm indication of growing market strength for collector material across the price spectrum. We can't say whether these two super-rarities will be certified in the immediate future, but we can state that the lack of encapsulation didn't seem to diminish Bidder enthusiasm in the slightest.

The 'bad news' this week is that we didn't have even more "good news" to report. Our optimism, however, is tempered by the knowledge that the post-ANA slide will be hard to reverse — at least, without the help of some MAJOR external event (say a $25 rise in gold spot). The CMI numbers tell the story rather effectively, and also provide some support for both our optimism and concern. Since ANA (through last week) the overall CMI was down 14.41 points. Mercury Dimes were the only area to have shown growth, but even their volatility was demonstrated with a 4.56 drop taken just the week before; still, any gain is appreciated. This week the rate of decline has slowed on many charts.

In this market, any "good" news has to be considered great news!

Bright Spots Developing
Dealers Remain Cautious on Market

Coin dealers, usually the soul of optimism, are busy watching several strengthening areas of the market; or, to be more precise, they are not only watching, they are participating. Years of experience with the "new" realities of the coin market have taught them that different parts of the market will be "hot" at different times. The dealer who is nimble, or who has a breadth of inventory not usually found in the trade today, will be able to react quickly to the demand evidenced in rising segments. This type of market favors the dealer who is a generalist, as he is able to adjust his activities and inventory more quickly. The specialist dealer, who by definition has become known to the entire numismatic community for his knowledge (and inventory) in one area, has to view a sustained falling market with much apprehension. Can you imagine any dealer during the last six years specializing in Gold Commemoratives?

Even in a strong bull market, there will be areas that are simply "out-of-favor", that are showing minus signs when everything else is growing. This may be due to the growing specialization and sophistication of the collecting community, or to the lower levels of liquidity in the trade, or perhaps due to the intense competition for disposable income within and without numismatics. Dealers are agreed that a broadly rising market will be accompanied by an influx of "fresh" cash; many will disagree on whether that is cause or effect.

Mint State Gold has advanced again this week, in a solid display of strength; plus signs outnumbered declines five-to-one. These increases, however, are not generating as much buying enthusiasm as they might have once upon a time. Dealers (and active collectors/investors) realize that much of the movement here is being driven by changes in bullion levels. If dealers have learned anything over the last decade, it has been that you cannot trust "spot" to continue to rise. So, lots of gold coins are trading, and money is being made, but no one is 'betting the farm' on a sustained rally in Mint Gold Type (as nice as that would be!). Gold Commemoratives are showing their second rising week with a solid performance. Buffalo Nickels seem to be playing "leap-frog" with Mercury Dimes; one week one chart will surge, the next week, the 'other'. Some dealers are pointing to Walking Liberty Half Dollars as the next chart to enjoy a surge of demand; there is no question that Walkers are one of the collector-dominated charts, and some dealers think generic prices remain a "steal" at current levels. We shall see.

Against the glimmers of good news in the market, there are charts that need to strengthen before solid optimism can prevail. Silver Commemoratives, which did so well for so long while the rest of the market was sliding, now seem to be mired. Morgan Dollars, while seeing some strengthening lately, are still showing quite a few downward adjustments. With the overall decline in the number and strength of supporting Bids for the MS64+ columns, discounted selling has been taking its toll. Peace Dollars likewise; trades at a discount to Bid may help move the merchandise, but will hurt a market in need of greater support. While Mint State Type was steady this week, improvement is needed here and in Proof Type as well. In summary, if demand can get half the market moving, many (but probably not all) of the other charts will follow along.

Retail Fostering Wholesale Recovery
Customer Demand Driving Bids

The market continues on its path of slow recovery — but recovery never-the-less. We are now watching a strengthening of support at current levels: more Bidders are placing more Bids at higher levels than in the recent past. As is immediately apparent very few of these new Bids are producing plus signs; growing numbers of Bids confirming interest at these levels produce no plus signs, but the effect is just as real. Many more Bids are at a slight discount to Bluesheet Bid, indicating that even at these tempting levels, dealers are still looking for bargains.

Significantly, dealers are reporting that their newly-revived interest in buying is being fueled by demand from their retail customers. This just may be the "good news" that the coin market has been waiting for. Dealers have been (naturally) reticent about expanding their inventories in the face of uncertain retail demand. Once the customers start coming through the door, once the letters start coming in with fatter checks, dealers are going to pick up their own buying in response.

While there are these positive forces at work in the market, we repeat that the progress is taking its own time. Even this, though, is viewed as a positive by many. This point was driven home in a conversation with a dealer who asked "How does the market look to you this week?" I responded with three short sentences. "There are more Bidders at current levels. There are more Bids at current levels. The market is becoming more solid, but very slowly." His response to each observation was the same: "Great!" Dealers want to have a much more solid market foundation on which to build some long-term advances. The volatility of quick plus signs exacts a price on dealers as well as investors.

You couldn't prove any market strengthening on the Silver Commemoratives chart, where minus signs dominated a few scattered advances; increased demand for these collector coins will be required for any definition of a market rally. Gold Commems were solid this week, with advances (mostly below MS65) covering much of the activity. Morgan and Peace Dollars continue to strengthen below MS65, but discounted selling is still producing declines; as is the case with other collector series, demand is being inhibited by the minus signs.

Mint State Type coins are looking a little more solid, but there are still scattered discounted sells driving some Bids lower. Mint State Gold Type, which boomed last week, turned in another solid performance with plus signs outnumbering declines more than 6 to 1. Proof Type also needs to strengthen; scattered minus signs are masking the good news of their solidifying foundation. Proof Gold Type was unchanged. Buffalo Nickels were steady this week, with a few mixed changes; Bids in this series have been running hot and cold lately, but look out when it's hot! Mercury Dimes were likewise steady, with a few declines in the later dates. Walking Liberty Halves had more changes, and more declines, but ended barely on the down side of steady. Proof Singles are still looking for their champion.

In such an erratic market, it is hard to generalize, but it seems that the strengthening and solidifying activity is found up to MS65, while many of the declines are in the Gem grades. This may have interesting ramifications for the investment strategies that have worked so well in past cycles.

Mint State Type Provides Opportunities
Type Reflects Market Uncertainties

As the market continues its "slow but steady" strengthening, dealers continue to closely examine the Bid levels in Mint State Type. Arguably, Mint State Type represents a very large portion of the rare coin market, and many dealers gauge the strength of market demand by concentrating here and on Mint State Gold Type prices. We were asked to take a look at how Mint State Type has performed as a series since the beginning of 1993, and as you might expect, the picture is mixed.

Of the Mint State Type Bid levels we report, since January 1993, 16% have increased, 44% have remained stable, and 40% have declined. More significantly, the average rise has been only 9%, while the average decline has been 15%; altogether, the declines have been powerful enough to make the average change across the chart a 4.6% decline. This long term weakening is likewise visible in the Mint State Type CMI, which has declined from 777.28 in January to the 742.74 level in this issue of the Bluesheet.

As we have been noting for some time, almost every chart provides abundant examples of Leaders and Laggards, our chosen names for those coins that have performed "very well" and "not so very well" (a dealer friend calls these "Dolls & Dogs"). Whichever name you prefer, there is no getting around the fact that this market provides abundant opportunities to make or lose large sums by simply buying and holding. While dealers naturally prefer to turn their inventory rather than hold, most investors and collectors do hold, and will be subject to their luck and/or skill in the selection of 'winners'. So, what to do about the Laggards? The contrarian looks at such a list, and knowing the cyclical nature of the coin market, will sell the winners and buy the losers.

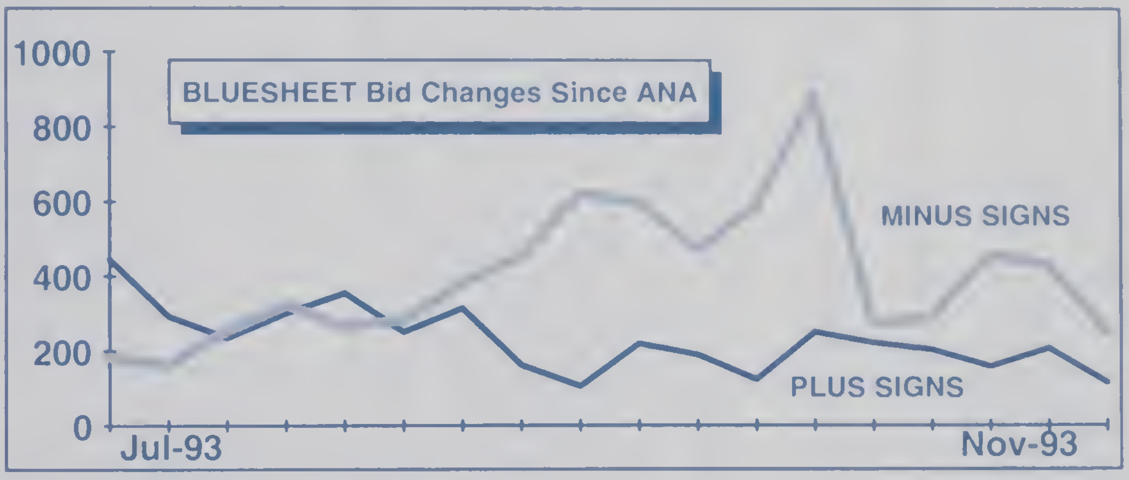
Market Strengthening Slowly
Discounted Sells Diminish

The market continues its slow strengthening, as evidenced by more Bidders placing more Bids at higher levels. Since many of these Bids continue to provide support at current levels, we still aren't seeing very many plus signs. So, we have a market that is rallying (notice that we still aren't to the point where we would feel comfortable calling this a market "rally"), a market that is slowly but surely increasing in strength, but a market that is not providing much evidence in the way of plus signs. This is hardly the stuff of tabloid headlines.

In fact, in discussing the problem of providing "evidence" of strength, one dealer reminded us of the value of the chart run in the Editorial of the October 8th Bluesheet. Illustrating the relative numbers of plus signs and minus signs in the market since ANA, the earlier chart clearly demonstrated the enormous swing in market psychology (and direction) following Baltimore. Even knowing that a simple count of plus signs and minus signs provides only a crude approximation of market conditions, and knowing that this 'proto-rally' has been producing few plus signs, it never hurts to take a second look.



The change in the market one month ago is quite apparent. True enough, the number of plus signs in the Bluesheet has been fairly steady (and too low for any definition of a "rally"), but the strengthening of the market is marked by a rather steep decline in the number of discounted sells and trades below Bid. So, yes, we still have a way to go before the 'real' rally begins to produce plenty of plus signs and great headlines, but at least we are headed in the right direction.

The tour of the charts can be summarized with the word "steady". Silver Commemoratives? Steady. Gold Commems? Steady, with advances in the 'middle' grades. Morgan Dollars? Steady, with a few mixed changes. Peace Dollars? Steady, with a few declines in the 'lower' grades. Mint State Type? Steady, with just a few discounted sells. Mint State Gold Type? Mixed changes in the 'lower' grades. Proof Type? Steady, with only a few discounted sells. Proof Gold Type? Steady. Buffalo Nickels? Steady. Mercury Dimes? Steady, with just a few scattered declines. Walking Liberty Halves? Steady.

Despite the encouraging news in the coin market of late, for some dealers the recovery is proceeding "too slowly". The primary complaint is not that there aren't enough plus signs, however (dealers seem genuinely pleased that the market is strengthening before it advances); the main concern continues to be the number of customers and their willingness to spend at current levels! According to one of America's leading professional numismatists, this autumn will be memorable for "all the opportunities that collectors did not take advantage of."

We have to admit that he had a point — we see some really wonderful coins at very reasonable prices sitting in inventories with no 'takers'. Classic supply-demand theory holds that without demand at current levels, the price should drop even further; true enough, but that is offset by dealers who themselves are taking advantage of the bargain prices to put away great coins at cheap prices. When the next Rally starts in earnest, you can bet that a lot of these coins will be coming out of 'hiding' at two-to-three times their cost. The coin market has always provided handsome profits to the contrarian who knows how to time the cycles. For those less prescient, they will buy after the recovery has begun in earnest and sell after a 'small but useful profit' has been achieved.

Certified coins continue to attract strong attention at major auction sales. Heritage's Bullet Sale at the National Silver Dollar Convention, earlier this month, realized a half-million dollars in an offering of just over 1,000 lots; the cheapest slabbed lot brought $17, while $13,475 was required to win the highest. Something for every collector continues to make these abbreviated, certified-only sales popular.

Auctions by Bowers and Merena has traditionally also presented catalogues containing items of interest for every collector, with their Grand Format catalogues that feature extensive photography and wonderful lot descriptions. It is no exaggeration to state that reading one of their catalogues is a numismatic education in itself, and the collector who takes advantage of lot viewing will enjoy an experience not soon forgotten. While the B&M sales contain many specialized collections and uncertified treasures, buyers of certified coins always find much of interest. Their $2.2 million Donovan & Hudgens Collection sale, held last weekend, contained the following slabbed highlights: (see inset)

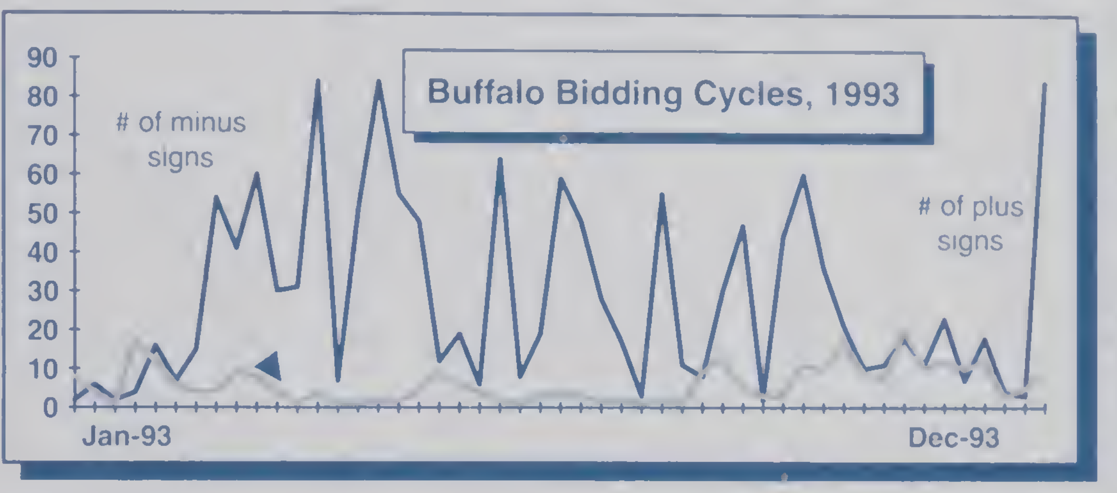
Is Latest Rally Stalling Before Starting? Buffaloes Ending 1993 Upbeat

Activity in the certified coin market seemed to slack off a bit this week, as dealers and collectors alike presumably were focusing their attention on the Holidays. The recent trend towards increased Bidding and decreased discount selling pulled a reversal this week; despite a noticeable decrease in the number of coins being presented for sale on the electronic exchanges, discounted sells produced a larger number of minus signs. Many of the visible Bidders seem to be "bargain hunting", with "lowball" Bids at levels guaranteed to make any purchase a happy one. The lack of a strong Bidder presence seems to especially plague the sight-unseen markets for the smaller certification services (included in the supplemental charts in this issue); as thin as these markets are, the addition (or loss) of a single Bidder can result in many changes.



This week, only two of the weekly charts show a preponderance of plus signs. Gold Commemoratives are so incredibly cheap, that one wonders if they could go in any direction but up. Buffalo Nickels exploded again this week, with plus signs outnumbering declines 10:1! Buffaloes have been performing marvelously during 1993, with their CMI rising slowly from 721.93 at the year's start to reach 751.10. While the rise has been steady, a more interesting story emerges when the relative numbers of plus signs and minus signs are charted. It would be an understatement to note that the "plus" side of the Buffalo market has been volatile, and we aren't talking pork bellies here! The increases in Buffalo Bids during 1993 have come in distinct waves; since the plus signs have so dominated the minuses, however, the upward movement has appeared much smoother.

While the plus signs (in their bursts of glory) have covered the chart, whenever we scrutinize a series, we usually start with the generics. In the case of the Buffalo Nickels, the 1938 D will simply have to do! Comparing January 1 Bids to today's issue, we see a few surprises: MS63, $11⇒$14; MS64, $12⇒$15; MS65, $18⇒$28; MS66, $41⇒$46; MS67, $674⇒$360. Doesn't it seem like such a long time ago, when it was always the highest graded coins that appreciated the fastest?

A Safe Harbor For Your Coins.

Treacherous waters.

Can you remember when everyone had a different opinion about whether a coin was an MS64 or an MS65? Or when prices on coins varied wildly even though the coins looked the same to you? And what about when the MS65 you bought became an MS64 when you went to sell it?

If you've been in love with numismatics for even slightly more than eight years, then you probably recall the days before the Rare Coin Revolution.

It was a time when successfully participating in the coin market was often a matter of pure luck -- tantamount to navigating through stormy seas without the benefit of sails or rudder -- and placing hope against hope that you'd be able to steer clear of the rocks ahead.

A safe harbor for your coins.

That was the rare coin industry before an accepted industry standard and objective grading practices became available to consumers.

The startling need for consumer protection was responsible for turning the tide in the rare coin marketplace with a concept called Professional Coin Grading Service.

Soon PCGS introduced standardized, third-party grading -- and encapsulation to guarantee a coin's grade. The Rare Coin Revolution had begun.

PCGS received widespread acceptance among coin dealers and collectors by creating a new level of consumer confidence not before known to the hobby.

Now it's been almost a decade since the beginning of the Rare Coin Revolution. Certified coins rule in coin shops and on bourse floors. And the overwhelming acceptance of PCGS is a powerful testament to all of the advantages of third-party grading.

Buying a PCGS-graded coin is like having the expertise and experience of three professional numismatic consultants with you every time you buy a coin. What's more, it's like keeping all three on your personal payroll long after the transaction's complete, because each coin graded by PCGS is covered by our cash-back Guarantee of Grade and Authenticity as long as it remains in its tamper-evident, protective NumisCap™ holder.

These are the primary reasons why the vast majority of today's collectors would rather give up the ship than voyage into the rare coin market without the safe harbor offered by PCGS.

Stay the course.

Today's rare coin market makes it essential to have your coins graded by PCGS. Current market conditions have sent consumer confidence in the PCGS product sailing to an all-time high. Coins certified by PCGS are easier to sell than ever before.

But what about uncertified coins? The fact of the matter is that uncertified coins are harder to sell than ever before. Ask just about anyone in the industry if they're worth the risk.

So if you're interested in adding to your portfolio, now is an excellent time to speak to any one of our 701 PCGS authorized dealers in the U.S. or overseas.

There's never been a better time to have your coins graded by PCGS.

PCGS has a service for any coin in your collection. At $25 per coin for our basic 15-Day service, PCGS is common sense insurance for your coins. Our $15 Economy service is an excellent option designed especially for all non-gold coins valued at $300 or less. PCGS also offers many other services for cost-conscious collectors.

And while our prices are better than ever, best of all, so are our guaranteed turn-around times!

But regardless of the PCGS service you choose, each coin is graded with the same professionalism and care you are accustomed to from Professional Coin Grading Service.

Holiday Breather Underway
Coin Auctions Provide Seasonal Cheer

The "mini rally" underway over the last two months has taken a bit of a holiday breather, although trading continues active in Holiday gift items for collectors (especially in modern Commemoratives, Proof Sets and Mint Sets). As one dealer remarked "this rally took forever to get started, and in fact, maybe it never did start; hopefully, this is just a pause for the Holidays and the slow growth will begin fresh with the New Year." That sounds like as good a resolution as any numismatist could ask for - other than gold returning to $750, of course. Speaking of resolutions, a few dealers have decided that this year, they will not predict a return of the boom market — this has something to do with "reverse psychology", apparently.

Heritage Numismatic Auctions' Bullet sale, held last week at the Dallas Coin & Stamp Exposition, showed the versatility of this abbreviated format. Total Prices Realized of $356,539 doesn't sound overwhelming when compared to one of the mega-auctions, but the Bullet brings a great cross-section of certified material to an audience. Among the highlights: (see inset)

Silver Commemoratives slipped on lowered demand, with many of the changes in the MS64-MS66 columns. Gold Commems, on the other hand, turned in a solid performance with many increases in the MS61-MS64 grades. Morgan Dollars showed a fairly large number of plus signs, but many of these represent small adjustments. Peace Dollars followed a similar pattern, with only a few of the declines caused by a substantial discounted sell. Mint State Type ended the week a little on the down side, although the vast majority of Bid levels remained steady; a few discounted sells and trades resulted in the minus signs. Mint State Gold Type was much more active, with 25% of the issues changing levels; minuses outnumbered increases 2-1 but many of the declines were minor, and activity continues strong here. Proof Type continues steady, with just a few discounted sells resulting in lowered Bids. Proof Gold Type, which is usually steady, showed Bid increasing on a few issues this week.

Among the specialty series, Buffalo Nickels were steady; as last week's Bluesheet chart showed, a quiet period has followed nearly every Bid "explosion". Mercury Dimes remain steady, while the late-date Walkers are enjoying some demand in MS65 and MS66. Proof Singles show scattered changes with no discernible pattern

Market Remains Steady & Quiet
Gem Morgans & Peace Sparkle at Year's End

This week's market was "more of the same", the same, in this case, being the reduced levels of demand and activity that seemed to coincide with the turning of the calendar. We all know that December is traditionally a slow month, but doesn't it seem a trifle curious that the slowdown should begin on December First? Retail shops continue to report modest Holiday traffic, with buying emphasis on the traditional items: Proof Sets, Mint Sets, and gold for jewelry. With certified MS65 Morgan Dollars and Walking Liberty Halves so reasonably priced in today's market, it seemed that the long-standing predictions about these slabs becoming part of the Holiday 'tradition' might finally be realized — well, maybe next year.

The lower levels of activity also meant that there were fewer changes in this week's Bid levels. Silver Commemoratives are showing some demand, but discounted selling continues to put a damper on levels. Most of the price changes (especially the plus signs) are in the MS65 column. Gold Commems, on the other hand, seem determined to end 1993 with a bang, following another round of solid increases up through MS64. Morgan Dollars were mainly steady, with minute changes in generic Bids accounting for most of the minus signs; we have been seeing increased demand for the quality Morgans, with MS67s rising steadily in recent weeks. Peace Dollars were also steady, with only a few small changes; these Gems have also been attracting attention of late, with 66 Peace Dollars climbing nicely (from $770 in early October to $1100 this week).

Mint State Type may be a traditional market leader, but it somehow seems very difficult to define the 'leader' of a drifting market. Small numbers of discounted sells continue to chip away at Mint State Type Bid levels, but not enough to really drive the market down. Selected issues enjoy increased demand (and sometimes with substantial increases), but not often enough to fuel a market rally. The major concern in Mint State Type is that some of the discounted sells have been quite severe, an occurrence that will definitely not inspire enthusiasm. Mint State Gold has definitely not been drifting. 1993 has been spent going from one extreme to the other, from great demand to indifference, from boom to bust. This week, plus signs outnumber declines more than three-to-one on the Mint State Gold chart, with all of the advances coming below the MS65 column; Gem Gold seems to need vibrant market support in order to advance. This type of volatility really hurts the dealers who try to keep a large gold inventory to better serve their customers' needs. Proof Type has been reflecting much of the same indecision as Mint State Type, with pockets of demand balancing against selected selling. Proof Gold Type simply remains steady.

One other piece of 'good news' for the market comes from the specialty series, with Buffalo Nickels again leading the charge. The plus signs are strongest in the early dates, and extend from MS63 through MS66. Good Golly, haven't these produced some excitement this year? Mercury Dimes turned in yet another steady week, and Walking Liberty Halves were a touch on the 'down side' (mainly in the later dates). Proof Singles were also mixed, as has become their custom. Unless some major event during the next two weeks forces a re-evaluation of the collectibles markets, most dealers expect 1993 to simply end quietly. We shall see.

A Safe Harbor For Your Coins.

Treacherous waters.

Can you remember when everyone had a different opinion about whether a coin was an MS64 or an MS65? Or when prices on coins varied wildly even though the coins looked the same to you? And what about when the MS65 you bought became an MS64 when you went to sell it?

If you've been in love with numismatics for even slightly more than eight years, then you probably recall the days before the Rare Coin Revolution.

It was a time when successfully participating in the coin market was often a matter of pure luck -- tantamount to navigating through stormy seas without the benefit of sails or rudder -- and placing hope against hope that you'd be able to steer clear of the rocks ahead.

A safe harbor for your coins.

That was the rare coin industry before an accepted industry standard and objective grading practices became available to consumers.

The startling need for consumer protection was responsible for turning the tide in the rare coin marketplace with a concept called Professional Coin Grading Service.

Soon PCGS introduced standardized, third-party grading -- and encapsulation to guarantee a coin's grade. The Rare Coin Revolution had begun.

PCGS received widespread acceptance among coin dealers and collectors by creating a new level of consumer confidence not before known to the hobby.

Now it's been almost a decade since the beginning of the Rare Coin Revolution. Certified coins rule in coin shops and on bourse floors. And the overwhelming acceptance of PCGS is a powerful testament to all of the advantages of third-party grading.

Buying a PCGS-graded coin is like having the expertise and experience of three professional numismatic consultants with you every time you buy a coin. What's more, it's like keeping all three on your personal payroll long after the transaction's complete, because each coin graded by PCGS is covered by our cash-back Guarantee of Grade and Authenticity as long as it remains in its tamper-evident, protective [illegible] holder.

These are the primary reasons why the vast majority of today's collectors would rather give up the ship than voyage into the rare coin market without the safe harbor offered by PCGS.

Stay the course.

Today's rare coin market makes it essential to have your coins graded by PCGS. Current market conditions have sent consumer confidence in the PCGS product sailing to an all-time high. Coins certified by PCGS are easier to sell than ever before.

But what about uncertified coins? The fact of the matter is that uncertified coins are harder to sell than ever before. Ask just about anyone in the industry if they're worth the risk.

So if you're interested in adding to your portfolio, now is an excellent time to speak to any one of our 701 PCGS authorized dealers in the U.S. or overseas.

There's never been a better time to have your coins graded by PCGS.

PCGS has a service for any coin in your collection. At $25 per coin for our basic 15-Day service, PCGS is common sense insurance for your coins. Our $15 Economy service is an excellent option designed especially for all non-gold coins valued at $300 or less. PCGS also offers many other services for cost-conscious collectors.

And while our prices are better than ever, best of all, so are our guaranteed turn-around times!

But regardless of the PCGS service you choose, each coin is graded with the same professionalism and care you are accustomed to from Professional Coin Grading Service.

CERTIFIED COIN DEALER newsletter

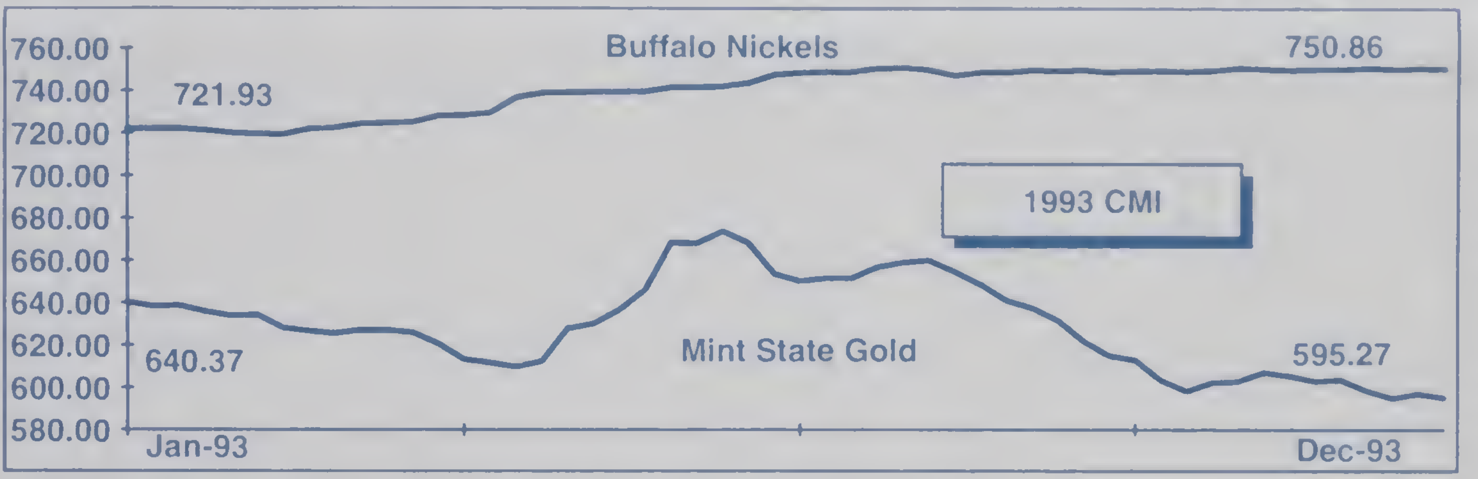
a weekly report on the certified market
published by the Coin Dealer Newsletter (est. 1963)

Vol. VIII No. 52 December 24, 1993 Single copy price $3.50

Certification Integral to 1994's Success
Last CCDn Issue of 1993

This is the last issue of the Bluesheet for 1993 the next cover date will be nuary 7 1994. As we are closing this year we find that most dealers are aving a sigh of relief that 1993 will soon be over It's not that it was such bad year rather 1993 simply never lived up to its potential to be a good ear. Even more than that, it seemed at times that the market was teasing ith the possibility that a rally was imminent.

One thing about the 1993 market was certain — certification continues to e a viable op on for a growing population of oins Although ropping prices n many gener s has made labbing rather xpensive, cus omers continue demand hird-party opin ons on grading. uring the year, here were several important auctions of "raw" material; prices realized ere exceedingly high, as befits the rarity and quality of the coins being ffered. But make no mistake about it — most of the coins were immediately ispatched to the certification services by their new owners.



Summarizing 1993 is difficult, if for no other reason than the market did ot behave cohesively. Each area of the market, each chart in the Bluesheet, was capable of acting very independently from the others. The chart demonstrates this very clearly, tracing the CMI figures for 1993 for just two series: Mint State Gold Type and Buffalo Nickels. Mint State Gold certainly demonstrated the volatility that dealers and collectors have come to expect from the coin market in recent years: one successful attempt at a rally and two shorter efforts still couldn't prevent the year from ending on a down note on these important coins. Just looking at the CMI chart for Buffalo Nickels, however, and you could be easily persuaded that the 1993 market was steady, conservatively optimistic and even rather enjoyable. Other charts might prove conclusively that this was a terrible year in the coin market.

So, how was 1993? You will need to answer that for yourself and the answer will depend on whether you were buying or selling, your inventory positioning, and your customer base. Regardless we certainly can wish that your 1994 be more prosperous and enjoyable, and that comes from the entire CDN family of publications.
